INDUSTRY ENGAGEMENT & GLOBAL CONNECTIONS AEROTECHNIC APRIL RECAP

Connecting globally. Strengthening partnerships.
Moving aviation forward.

April saw Aerotechnic South Africa actively engaging on the global stage, with a strong presence at one of the aviation industry's leading events. These engagements continue to strengthen our partnerships, expand our network, and enhance the value we deliver to our clients.

Industry Engagement: Aircraft Interiors Expo (AIX) 2026

Aerotechnic representatives Tebitha Musarurwa and Arshad Patel attended the Aircraft Interiors Expo 2026, connecting with global suppliers, partners, and industry leaders.

The expo provided a valuable opportunity to:

- ◆ Engage directly with key suppliers and partners
- ◆ Explore the latest advancements in aircraft interiors and aviation innovation
- ◆ Strengthen relationships across the global aviation supply chain

These interactions ensure Aerotechnic remains aligned with industry developments while continuously improving the solutions we offer our clients.

Supplier Engagement Highlights

During AIX, Aerotechnic connected with key supplier partners, reinforcing existing relationships and exploring new opportunities for collaboration.

Meeting with ANKER representatives

Engagement with SHOU team

Connecting with SCHNELLER representatives

These engagements play a critical role in strengthening our supply network and ensuring continued access to quality components and solutions for our clients.

Why This Matters

Our presence at AIX reflects Aerotechnic's commitment to staying at the forefront of the aviation industry. By maintaining close relationships with global suppliers and staying informed on the latest innovations in aircraft interiors, we are better positioned to:

- ◆ Deliver relevant, up-to-date solutions
- ◆ Strengthen supply chain reliability
- ◆ Support evolving client needs across the aviation sector
